The United Nations Observer Mission in Angola (MONUA) was established by the Security Council resolution 1118 (1997) of 30 June 1997 with an overall mandate to assist the Angolan parties in consolidating peace and national reconciliation, enhancing confidence-building and creating an environment conducive to long-term stability, democratic development and rehabilitation of the country. MONUA took over from the United Nations Verification Mission in Angola III (UNAVEM III). Headquarters were located in Luanda, Angola. The mandates were extended several times. The mission consisted of political, police, human rights, military and humanitarian matters. MONUA ended on 26 February 1999 following the Security Council resolution 1229 (1999). The Special Representatives of the Secretary-General and Chiefs of Mission were Mr Alioune Blondin Beye (Mali) from June 1997 to June 1998, who died on 26 June 1998 with five other UN staff and two pilots in a plane crash, and Mr. Issa B. The Force Commanders were Major-General Phillip Valerio Sibanda (Zimbabwe) between June 1997 and April 1998, Major-General Seth Kofi Obeng (Ghana) from May 1998 and February 1999. On 15 October 1999, the Security Council authorized, by its resolution 1268, the establishment of the United Nations Office in Angola (UNOA) to liaise with the political, military, police and other civilian authorities in that country.

S-1037 Human Rights Support 1993-1999

Scope and Content

S-1037 contains records concerning human rights activities of the following peacekeeping missions:

United Nations Angola Verification Mission III (UNAVEM III), 8 February 1995 – 30 June 1997

United Nations Observer Mission in Angola (MONUA), 30 June 1997 – 26 February 1999

The MONUA peacekeeping mission maintained the files of two of its predecessor missions – UNAVEM II and UNAVEM III - and added records to those files until mission closure. Files for predecessor missions are searchable in S-1037 by date.

Human Rights Division / UNAVEM III and MONUA

Records of the Human Rights Division consist of: weekly situation reports from Human Rights Officers sent to the Special Representative of the Secretary-General (SRSG); summaries of meetings held by the Chief of the Human Rights Division; reports of investigations carried out by Human Rights Officers; reports of Human Rights Officers' visits to prisons; agendas and summaries of local seminars and workshops on human rights; and field reports of Human Rights Officers sent to the Chief of the Human Rights Division, which document local human rights violations, mission support for the rehabilitation of a fair judicial system, and the mission's promotion of local human rights campaigns. Also included are questionnaires and results of MONUA's "Lessons to be Learned Survey" conducted in 1998, which gathered perceptions of human rights related issues from Human Rights Officers, Political Affairs Officers, Military Observers, Civilian Police, and other personnel upon departure from the mission.
