PRESS RELEASE

REVIEW OF NGOS OPERATIONS IN RWANDA.

Following the mayhem which befell Rwanda between the month of April and July last year, it became obvious that the country was to be rebuilt from scratch.

This tragedy caused innumerable problems and many challenges to the rwandese people: about one million people were brutally killed by militia and army men. This brought about thousands of orphans and unaccompanied children who had neither medical care nor basic protection: survivors were deprived of everything and most of the time were seriously wounded, we had many defenseless widows and the entire population was displaced. All kinds of infrastructure were either completely or partially destroyed, collective or individual equipment were looted, harvests vandalized all over the countryside. In short, the country was wrecked and populations in total confusion.

Given the situation, especially at the end of the drama, numerous humanitarian organisations offered to come and assist in rebuilding the country. The Rwandese government and the whole population of Rwanda appreciate these tireless efforts employed to give support to Rwanda at the time of need.

However, it is important to note that a big number of humanitarian organisations in such a short time required better co-ordination in order to maximize the use of the assistance rendered.

It is in response to the need of coordination that the Ministry of Rehabilitation and Social Integration, whose mandate amongst other tasks is the coordination of Humanitarian Assistance, decided to set up a structure of the Humanitarian Assistance and NGOs operations Coordination Unit (HACU). It was created among other things to render all services required by NGOs and to be at the same time fully informed about their activities in the country on one hand, and on the other to follow up the evolution of the humanitarian assistance operations.

To date, the task is still big although it is clear that NGOs' coordination is now established. This will facilitate better working relationships and continuous reviews.

A year after the drama, it is important to note that some of these organisations have intervened successfully while others were not up to standard, either because of lack of adequate means and capacities, or not having clear programmes or even having no experience in the various field of intervention.

Therefore, after adequate consultation with the relevant Government authorities, the Ministry of Rehabilitation and Social Integration has resolved to review NGOs operations in Rwanda.

The review concerns particularly non-governmental organisations which have not been successful in setting up programmes that suit different needs of our country, or have failed to comply with the Government regulations by refusing to apply for the registration, and signing basic agreements with the Government.

Other organisations have individual problems namely weak performances in the accomplishment of their programmes, failure to go through the local authorities and technical ministries plus other irregularities.

According to the regulations set up in the working procedures for NGOs, 102 NGOs have been registered and allowed to operate legally in Rwanda having satisfied all requirements.

38 NGOs have been requested to cease operations and leave the country. While 18 others have been asked to suspend their activities and explain their individual cases before any further action can be taken.

The Government of Rwanda wishes to take this opportunity to thank all those assisting Rwanda and to renew its assurances for the continued co-operation with its partners in the reconstruction and development of the country.

Kigali, the 6th, of December 1995.

Mazimhaka Patrick

The Minister for Rehabilitation and Social Integration.
