

THE SECRETARY-GENERAL

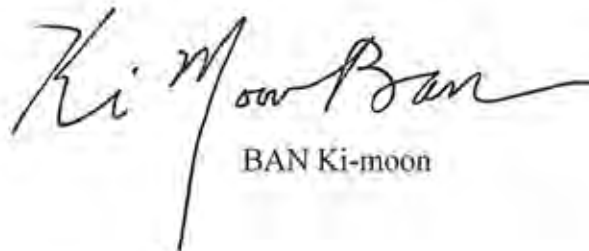

9 June 2016

Dear Students,

I thank you for your letter that I received on 12 May 2016, containing your individually-created postcards. The postcards are a perfect example of how powerful a tool art can be for expression and for raising awareness on important global issues like climate change.

The issue of climate change is one in which young people, like yourselves, can serve as leaders. I urge you to remain engaged and to continue to raise awareness on climate change. Only by working together can we achieve our shared objective of ending poverty, strengthening peace, and ensuring a life of dignity and opportunity for all.

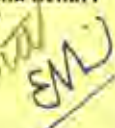

Yours sincerely,

BAN Ki-moon

Students of Grade 7
United Nations International School
New York

SG letter to UNIS Students
Drafted by: Cynthia Scharf
Reviewed by: ho/
Cleared by:
Proofread by: JW

Authorized:
Date: 9 June 2016