PO Box
Kigali Rwanda

Alternatively, the national military authorities could arrange with their national postal authorities to assign a central internal postal address to which all mail intended for the members of that national contingent will be addressed. Such letters should be posted at the internal postal rate only and be addressed along the lines of the example below:

Rank, Full Name, Service Number
P O Box XYZ)
Rome) Internal Postal Address Italy)

It is further suggested that at predetermined times, and on a specific day of each week, all mail should be collected by a post office official, placed in a post bag, sealed, addressed and despatched by air-freight to a central Mission postal address, to be arranged by the UN in the mission area. One method of addressing this official post bag is:

From: Italy (Example name of Country)
To: Italian Contingent (Example of contingent) UN Base
Post Office
Kigali Rwanda

The Government of the troops concerned will bear charges relating to the transportation of mail from the designated post office in the home country to the central Force postal address in the mission area.

b. Letters from the troops in the Mission area or out-bound mail.

A UN Post Office will be established in the mission area. This post office will accept a limited number of air letter forms from each contingent. These letters will be despatch, at UN expense, to a central address in the home country. The troop contributing countries are to advise the mission of this central postal address. National military authorities are responsible for advising their contingents of their country's internal postage requirements to ensure the mail reaches its correct destination.

94. Handling of mail to and from the troop-contributing country is governed by local conditions in accordance with the available means of transportation, agreement with the participating Government and the postal facilities available. Consequently, the arrangements outlined may change once the mission is established.

M. Contingent Equipment - Checklist.

95. The following list of stores and equipment, while not exhaustive, gives an indication of what may be required:

a. Generators

Base camps - 100 kilovoltamperes (KVA) x 2
 Company positions - 60 KVA x 2
 Platoon positions - 17.5 KVA
 Positions - 4.5 to 6 KVA
 Communications equipment - as required

Generators should mainly be diesel generators, capable of continuous duty and supplying 3-phase, 380/220v AC 50 Hz in the case of the larger types above 27KVA, and 220 single phase 50 Hz in the case of smaller generators. Adequate spare parts for at least 5000 hours operation should be included.

- b. Freezer and refrigeration. Freezers and refrigerators are required for base camps, battalion HQs, medical units, company positions, checkpoints and observation posts. They should preferably be capable of dual operation (gas-electricity) and when compressor driven should be 220V/50Hz.

c. Defence Stores

Tradesman's tools and equipment
Observation (field, survey and night vision binoculars, night observation devices)
Cooking equipment down to section level
Field laundry and bath units
Surveillance equipment such as night observation devices, ground sensors or electro optical and optical equipment which increases the security of UN forces and installations.

h. Water Supply

Adequate water containers/trailers and purification equipment to supply unit requirement plus 100% redundancy. One jerry can or similar per man is suggested.

i. Fuel Supply

Storage facilities for fuel are not generally available in all proposed locations. A storage capacity of up to 60 days has to be provided by the units for operational requirements (ie Drumson Bladders).

j. Shipping Containers

Contingent stores are to be palletized or packed in 20 foot long ISO shipping containers. Maximum weight of each container is not to exceed 10,000 kg. Due to the limited availability of materials handling equipment in Rwanda, 40 foot long ISO containers are not to be used for deployment to UNAMIR.

N. Rotation.

96. UNAMIR's mandate is for a period of 6 months, subject to review and renewal by the Security Council. Rotation for battalions will be arranged by the United Nations, normally by chartered commercial aircraft after international bidding. It is the responsibility of the contingent's government to inform the UN, at least six weeks prior to the rotation, of the exact dates they propose for the rotation and the number of troops to be rotated each way. The rotation will involve only the personnel and their personal gear (including personal weapons) up to 45 kgs. Unit equipment is not rotated. A reasonable amount of additional freight may be allowed by air, up to the available capacity of the aircraft after accommodating the passengers and their personal baggage. Contractual arrangements with commercial airlines are made by the UN. Since a number of airlines will be requested to submit bids for airlifts, a national airline of the troop contributing country competes on an equal footing for an award of the contract. Experience has shown the need for close liaison with FOD on all transport arrangements. Failure to provide the required information in time may delay the rotation of the contingent concerned.

O. Local Resources.

97. UNAMIR headquarters will make arrangements for the use of local resources. If a unit requires contractual services, the Commanding Officer should forward his request to Mission Headquarters. Contracts for services, supplies, equipment and other requirements will be made only through the Chief Administrative Officer or his nominated representatives. Such matters could include procurement of:

- a. accommodation;
- b. petrol, oil and lubricants (POL - including certain aviation fuels);
- c. fresh rations;
- d. water supply;
- e. rentals; i.e. accommodation or equipment;
- f. civilian labour;
- g. garbage disposal;
- h.* hair cutting;
- i.* shoe repair;
- j.* tailoring;
- k.* laundry and cleaning; and
- l. all modes of transport.

[* These services may be difficult to obtain. Therefore, units should be prepared accordingly.]

P. Letters of Assist

98. Where a special need arises for essential items which are not available from normal sources of supply and the home Government is the only logical source of supply, arrangements will be made by the Chief Administrative Officer for the requisitions to be processed through FOD in the form of a Letter of Assist addressed to the Government concerned. The Letter of Assist is a contracting method by which the United Nations arranges for the provisioning of such special supplies or services from a government, based on the issue of a numbered letter as authority.

99. The UN, in its request, will be quite specific as to whether it intends to procure the items involved as "United Nations Owned" (UNO) equipment or if they are to be provided as "Contingent Owned equipment" (COE). Items provided as COE will be subject to reimbursement in accordance with Annex E to these Guidelines. For purposes of identification and differentiation, each "Letter of Assist" will include after its reference number (UNO) or (COE). Examples of the two types of request are:

- a. Letter of Assist for UN-owned equipment/supplies: Country name/UNAMIR ASSIST/93-1 (UNO)
- b. Letter of Assist for Contingent owned equipment: Country name/UNAMIR ASSIST/93-501 (COE)

DRAFT

32

100. Claims related to these supplies and/or services should identify the number of the Letter of Assist to permit verification of receipt and documentation of the authorized expenditure. To aid the administrative process, the entire reference should be used in all correspondence relating to each Letter of Assist, including invoices and shipping information.

101. When the United Nations procures the items they then become UNO. Various items of equipment are also requested to be provided as COE and these items are thereby subject to reimbursement in accordance with Annex F to these guidelines.

Q. Reimbursement for Equipment and Supplies.

102. All authorized equipment and supplies brought in by the contingent at UN request will be inspected by the UN upon its arrival in the area of operations. The cost estimates for UNAMIR will contain provision for reimbursing the troop contributing government in respect of consumable supplies provided by them to their troops and in respect of contingent owned equipment in accordance with Annex D. A list of the vehicles, equipment and supplies including consumables brought to the mission area must be sent to FOD in the format at Annex E. This format is designed to correspond directly to the forms used in the mission area for control and will be used as the basis for subsequent certification of invoices for reimbursement.

R. Payments by UN to Troop Contributing Governments

103. All payments by the United Nations to the troop contributing Governments will be through the Permanent Missions in New York.

- a. Payment for troop costs (ie. for all those members of the units specified in Part III of these guidelines including members and staff officers filling positions on the mission/sector headquarters) in respect of pay and allowances at a standard rate of $988 per man-month for all ranks plus a supplemental $291 per man month for a limited number of specialist (up to 25 percent of logistic contingents, up to 10 percent of others). Reimbursement for these troop costs does not require the submission of a prior claim by the troop-contributing government since payments will be based on troop strength reports received from the field.
- b. Payment of a usage factor for all items of personal clothing/gear and equipment issued by the Government to their troops, at a standard rate of $65 per man-month for personal clothing, gear and equipment and a supplemental $5 per man month for personal weaponry and ammunition. Reimbursement in respect of this usage factor does not require the submission of a prior claim by the troop-contributing Government since payments will be based on troop strength reports received from the field.
- c. Payment for contingent-owned equipment brought in by contingent at the request of the United Nations will be based on the guidelines provided in Annex D, which provide for reimbursement for depreciation at a rate to be determined.

DRAFT

33

- d. The United Nations also accepts responsibility for the cost of supplies furnished by the Government to their contingent at the request of the United Nations. It will be necessary for the troop-contributing Government to submit a claim listing all equipment and supplies it provided to its contingent by kind, type, year of manufacture, whether new or used, unit price, etc. (A form designed for this purpose is attached at Annex G Appendix 2).
- e. Such claims will be checked in the field to ascertain the number and type of equipment and quantity of supplies delivered to the contingent in question and also to determine if those items were provided to the contingent at the request of the United Nations. In order to meet audit requirements of the United Nations there should be an appropriate certificate from the Auditor-General or official of equivalent rank/position of the troop-contributing Government certifying that the claims are valued and determined in accordance with the agreed guidelines.
- f. Reimbursement for payments made by the government based upon national legislation and/or regulations for death, injury, disability or illness attributable to service with the Force. In respect of death and disability awards, a Government claim is required to enable reimbursement of payments due or made by the Government concerned to beneficiaries in accordance with national legislation and/or regulations. This claim should be appropriately certified by the Auditor-General or an official of equivalent rank/position.
- g. Payments by the UN in the field to force personnel through their contingent.
 - (1) A UN daily allowance of $1.28 (usually paid in local currency) to each soldier in the field.
 - (2) A one way airline ticket is provided by the UN in some circumstances for members and escorts if repatriation is authorized for medical, compassionate or other reasons by the Force Commander.
 - (3) Recreational leave allowance will be paid by the UN at the rate of 10.50 a day for a period of seven days to each member of the Force serving a six month period.

S. Currency Exchanges.

104. Currency regulations vary from country to country. Regulations for currency exchange will therefore be established for this operation to ensure that national currency regulations are respected in the mission area as well as in neighbouring countries which the members may visit on leave or on duty. Regulations pertaining to the Force will be obtained upon arrival in the mission area.

T. Liaison with the Permanent Missions.

34

105. Once the basic decision has been rendered by the national Government to provide the contingent, the assistance of the Permanent Mission is solicited to expedite the necessary arrangements to ensure:

- a. the coordination by UN New York of the aircraft arrivals;
- b. the timely and coordinated arrival of the contingent personnel and equipment in the mission area;
- c. the provision of the stores and equipment which the national authorities are unable to provide; and
- d. that the well-being of the contingent personnel is taken care of adequately.

106. To this end, the Permanent Mission is requested to provide FOD as soon as possible with the information listed above.

U. Conclusion.

96. The above notes are in no way exhaustive. They touch in general terms on some of the organizational and administrative matters considered necessary for the smooth functioning of a contingent in the initial stages of its service with the United Nations. Attention is again drawn to the fact that the United Nations has no logistic bases on which to draw at the beginning of an operation. The funds for each operation are approved only after the establishment of that force and only to cover the cost of running the operation for a given mandate period. Procurement of stores and equipment can start only after the approval of funds for that Force. The delay in getting the necessary stores and equipment to the mission area is obvious. It is therefore strongly urged that the troop contributor should pay close attention to, and comply with, to the extent possible, the suggestions contained in these guidelines. Adherence to these suggestions will ease considerably the transition of the contingent from a national administrative system to that of the United Nations.

PERSONAL PROTECTION AGAINST MALARIA

1. All personnel can protect themselves quite effectively against mosquito bites and in this way prevent infections. This should constitute the travellers' first line of defense against malaria. Protecting oneself from insect or mosquito bites involves the following:

- a. wearing sufficiently thick, long-sleeved clothing and long trousers when out of doors after sunset, and avoiding dark colours, which attract mosquitos;
- b. smearing an insect repellent, such as dimethyl phthalate or N, N-niethyl-metatoluamide (DEET), on the parts of the skin remaning exposed, observing the manufacturer's precautions;
- c. sleeping in properly screened rooms (this is generally the case with air-conditioning);
- d. using "anti-fly" spray to kill any mosquitos that may have entered in spite of screening;
- e. using mosquito nets around the bed at night, taking care to tuck in the net carefully under the mattress, and ensuring that the net is not torn and that there are no mosquitos inside; increased protection may be obtained by impregnating the net with permethrin or deltamethrin; and
- f. burning mosquito coils (but usually they do not last through the night).

MALARIA CHEMOPROPHYLAXIS FOR RWANDA(LARIAM/MEFLOQUINE HCL, 250 MG)

1. The following is the recommended dosage for Mefloquine HCL (Lariam) 250 MG tablets. For prolonged stays in the endemic area (more than three weeks) the first dose of one tablet is to be taken once weekly on the same day of the week during the entire stay in the malarious area and four weeks after leaving the malarious zone.

ANNEX E
Page 1GENERAL GUIDELINES ON THE BASIS OF WHICH REIMBURSEMENT IS CALCULATED FOR UNAMIR EQUIPMENT

1. The following general principles shall govern the calculation of reimbursement by the United Nations for contingent-owned equipment.

a. Value of an Item of Equipment

i. Unused, up to one year old - cost paid by government plus expenses of renovation for UNAMIR service, if any;

ii. Unused, over one year old - cost paid by government plus expenses of renovation for UNAMIR service, if any,

or

current fair market value plus expenses of renovation for UNAMIR service, if any;

iii. Used - cost paid by government plus expenses of renovation for UNAMIR service, if any, reduced to an amount corresponding to the determined remaining usable life at time of delivery to UNAMIR service.

or

current fair market value plus expenses of renovation for UNAMIR service, if any, subject to determining the remaining usable life at time of delivery to UNAMIR service.

2. Reimbursement for an Item of Equipment

a. The amount reimbursable to a contributing government would be the net diminution in value of the equipment while in use by the United Nations. This would take into account the age and condition at time of entry into United Nations service, normal life expectancy, total period actually used by the United Nations and condition upon repatriation.

b. For consumable supplies, reimbursement will be made on the basis of quantities actually consumed.

an enclosure formed by a hedge, or palisade. The enclosure extends rearward in circular sections. Each section shelters a family in order of importance. In the past, huts were made of an interlaced frame covered with straw. This style has been replaced by clay or brick rectangular houses with a roof of tiles or sheet iron.

5. Communications. The communications facilities in Rwanda are currently being expanded. They consist of the following:

(a) Television. A television service started in 1992. A limited number of stations are available;

(b) Radio. There are 2 AM and 5 FM stations in Rwanda. They serve 630,000 radio sets, or about one radio per 11 people;

(c) Newspapers. Rwanda has one national daily newspaper with a limited circulation;

(d) Telecommunications. Telephone services for national and international use are generally adequate but very expensive. The area code is 250; and

(e) Satellite Earth Stations. There are 2 satellite earth stations in Rwanda. One is an Indian Ocean Intelsat and one Atlantic.

6. Water Supply. There is an abundant water supply however all drinking water should be treated as many tropical diseases are endemic. Access to safe water is available to 49% of the population.

TEMPERATURE

7. The average annual temperature for Rwanda is 19.7° C. This, however, does not reflect the variations in the different regions. The three thermatic regions are based on mean monthly temperature variations. These variations are recorded during the daylight hours only. The three thermatic regions are:

a. Below 1500 m. This area is primarily in the east but extends up the Nyabrongo River Valley. Temperatures in this region rise over 13° C during the day. The absolute maximum is 33° C and absolute minimum is 5° C. The average annual temperature for the region is 21° C;

INTRODUCTION TO RWANDA

TERRAIN

1. Geography. Rwanda is in east-central Africa. The country slopes gradually from a mountain range in the west to a lowland plain in the east. The mountain range includes a chain of volcanoes in the northwest. West of the mountains the land falls sharply to Lac Kivu. A plateau in the centre of the country is covered in steep hills. The average elevation in Rwanda is 2000m. The mountain range in the west forms the Nile-Congo Divide. Rivers to the east flow to the Nile and those on the west feed the Niger. There are nine large lakes in Rwanda six of which are totally within the borders. Vegetation varies from tropical forests in the west to savannah grasslands in the east. There are also considerable marshlands in the low lying areas. The soils vary also from rich volcanic soils in the west to poor, gravelly soils in the east. The climate is mild despite the latitude and high elevation of the country. The year is divided into two rainy seasons and one dry season.

2. Infrastructure. Rwanda has a relatively dense road network by African standards with 1200 km of paved roads. There are eight airports in the country, three of which have commercial flights. International traffic enters via Kigali, the capital. A ferry service operates on Lac Kivu on a north-south route. Electrical and communications facilities are adequate however potable water, adequate sewage disposal, and medical facilities are scarce outside the capital.

MANDATE FEATURES

3. Population Centres. Although the population density of Rwanda is the highest in sub-Saharan Africa (320 per km²) only 5.4% of the population live in urban centres. The few urban concentrations are grouped around the administrative centres of the ten prefectures. Only four of these centres have populations which exceed 20,000. These cities are: Kigali 232,000, Ruhengeri 30,000, Butare 29,000, and Gissenyi 22,000.

4. Rural Areas. The populace of this country is 94% rural. Dwellings in Rwanda are not clustered together in compact villages but instead are disposed in familial groups, for which a hill serves as the basic unit. Each place of habitation is surrounded by

The mean annual temperature varies from 19° C at 1700 m to 17.5° C at 1900 m. the absolute maximum in this region is 31° C and the absolute minimum is 5° C; and

Visibility

8. The best period of visibility is 1200 hrs. year round with a visibility of 16 km, 90% of the time. Visibility below 4 km occurs rarely but it usually occurs during the rainy season from February to March. Visibility in the mountains and foothills may be obscured in the morning due to fog. The fog clears rapidly though during the heat of the day. Other factors which may affect visibility occur during the dry season. At this time of year a fine dust hangs in the air. Also clouds of dust are raised by vehicle movement on unpaved roads. Farmers use the dry season to burn brush which creates localised clouds of smoke.

STORMS

9. Thunderstorms occur on an average of 28 days per year. Frequency of thunderstorms is greatest between September and February.

DRAFT

DRAFTANNEX H*HISTORICAL AND SOCIAL INTRODUCTION*GENERAL

1. The Rwandese Republic is distinctive both for the small size of the territory and for the density of the population. With an area of 26,338 km² and a population of 7,347,000 the density equals 279 persons per km².

2. The country has been engaged in civil war since October 1990, when a guerilla force comprised almost entirely of the minority Tutsi tribe invaded the country from neighbouring Uganda. An estimated 650,000 civilians have been displaced, primarily in the north.

HISTORICAL NOTES

3. Unlike most African States, Rwanda and its southern neighbour Burundi were not an artificial creation of colonial rule. When it had been absorbed by German East Africa in 1899 it had been an established Kingdom for several centuries. The Tutsi, cattle breeders from the Horn of Africa, began arriving about 500 years ago. The Tutsi gradually subjugated the Hutu inhabitants. They established a monarchy headed by a Mwami (king) and a feudal caste of nobles. The Tutsi reduced the Hutus to serfdom through a contract known as abuhake whereby the Hutu farmers obligated their services to the Tutsi lords in return for cattle and the use of pastures and arable land.

4. In 1899, the court of the Mwami submitted to a German protectorate without resistance. Belgian troops from Zaire occupied Rwanda in 1916. From 1920, Rwanda formed part of Ruanda-Urundi, administered by Belgium under a League of Nations mandate and latter as a UN Trust Territory. Reforms instituted by the Belgians in the 1950s encouraged the growth of democratic political institutions. Dissension between the majority Hutu and their former overlords the Tutsi led to a rebellion in 1959, resulting in an overthrow of the Tutsi monarchy. During the 1959, revolt and its aftermath more than 160,000 Tutsi fled to neighbouring countries and an estimated 20,000 were killed. A UN supervised referendum brought victory to the Party of Hutu Emancipation Movement (PARMEHUTU) in 1961. As a result internal autonomy was granted by Belgium on January 1, 1962 and in June, Belgian Trusteeship was terminated by the UN. Rwanda became independent effective 1 July 1962.

5. From 1962 to 1973 the PARMEHUTU ruled with Gregoire Kayibanda as leader. As a Result of inefficiency and corruption, the public became disaffected with the party. A bloodless coup was led by MGen Juvenal Habyarima, after which all political activity was abolished. A national referendum in December 1978 approved a new constitution, aimed at returning the country to normal government. In December 1983 Habyarima was elected president, and re-elected in 1988. From 1982, cross border refugee problems have affected Rwandese relations with Uganda. In early July of 1990, after sharp declines in political and economic conditions, Habyarima conceded that political reform was necessary. In September of 1990, the Commission Nationale de Synthese was established, having a mandate to make recommendations for political renewal.

6. On October 1, 1990, an estimated force of 10,000 guerillas representing the exiled Tutsi-dominated Front Patriotique Rwandais (FPR or Inkotanyi) crossed the border from Uganda into northeastern Rwanda. Numerically, the troops were dominated by Tutsi refugees, but there were also a number of disaffected elements of the Ugandan army. Belgian and French troops were dispatched in response to a request for assistance. They did not engage in combat as the small Rwandese army, with help from Zaire, turned back the assault. The Rwandese government declared victory in November, however, the FPR now adopted guerilla tactics. Attacks occurred in border areas in the north and northwest, initiated from camps in Uganda. This raised accusations, which were denied, that Uganda was supporting the FPR. The conflict continued through 1991 and 1992 with a cease-fire reported in late March 1993. Under the truce, the rebel force gave up half the territory it controlled so that displaced civilians could go home. A 19 km wide demilitarized zone has been set up. On 4 August 1993, the Arusha Peace Agreement was signed and called for a UN lead International Neutral Force to come and assist in the 22 month peace process.

PEOPLE

7. Population. Population of Rwanda is 7,347,000 with a density of 279 per km².

8. Ethnic Division. The indigenous population consists of three ethnic groups. They are the Tutsi 9%, Hutu 90% and Twa 1%. The Tutsi are a pastoral people who raise cattle. They are of Nilotic origin and are also known as Tussi, Batusi and Watusi. The Hutu are farmers of Bantu origin. They are also known as the Bahutu and Wakhutu. The Twa are pygmies and hunters. They are thought to be the remnants of the regions earliest settlers.

DRAFT

9. Language. The official languages are French and Kinyarwanda. The Kiswahili tongue is widely used in commerce. Kinyarwanda is a complex Bantu language and is spoken in the same manner by all Rwandese. The Rwanda Patriotic Front members are generally English speaking.

10. Religion. About 45% of the population follow traditional beliefs. These beliefs include a supreme being called Imana. Roman Catholics make up 45% of the population and 9% are Protestant. Less than 1% of the population are Muslim.

DEVELOPMENT

11. Public Health. Health care is not free and not widely available outside the capital. Rwanda has 232 hospitals, with a total of 7,882 beds. The ratio of physicians per capita is 0.3:1000. The leading causes of death (per 100,000 population) are:

- a. complications of pregnancy, childbirth, and birth injury, 192.4;
- b. infectious and parasitic disease, 11.8;
- c. disease of the nervous system, 10.1; and
- e. accidents poisoning, and violence, 5.2.

12. Health Concerns:

- a. Contagious Diseases. The following are commonly occurring contagious diseases malaria, typhoid, sleeping sickness, pneumonia, tuberculosis, dysentery, diphtheria, and meningitis; and
- b. Additional Health Concerns. Personal medication should be carried by each individual. There is a distinct lack of medical services in Rwanda. Aids is estimated to infect 80% of the prostitutes in Rwanda. Clean needles are scarce and if injections are required it is advised to bring syringes.

13. Life Expectancy/Deathrate:

- a. Male Life Expectancy. Life expectancy at birth for males is 49 years;
- b. Female Life Expectancy. Life expectancy at birth

DRAFT

for females is 53 years;

- c. Birthrate. The birthrate is 51.2 per 1,000;
- d. Deathrate. The deathrate is 17.2 per 1,000; and
- e. Infant Mortality Rate. The infant mortality rate is 117 per 1,000.

14. Education. The percentage of the total government expenditure spent on education is 25.4%. Rwanda has compulsory education beginning at seven years of age and lasting for eight years. Secondary education which is not compulsory, begins at the age of 15 and lasts for a further six years, comprising two equal cycles of three years. Enrolment in 1989 was estimated at 65% for primary school and only 7% for secondary schools. Rwanda has a University with campuses at Butare Kigali and Ruhengeri. The average rate of adult literacy is estimated at 49.8%.

15. Economic Background. Agriculture accounts for 46% of Rwanda's GDP, and employs an estimated 91% of the labour force. About 95% of the total value of agricultural production is provided by subsistence crops. The two major cash crops are coffee and tea which accounted for 59% and 24.5% respectively of the total export earning in 1991. The industrial sector follows the usual pattern for the less developed African states, and food based industries predominate. There are small textile, chemical and engineering, cement and match factories. There are also other enterprises based on transistors, plastic footwear, and agricultural tools. Rwanda also has a small mining (tin, tungsten, gold), and forestry industry. Imports to Rwanda include machinery, transport equipment, fuels and lubricants, and construction materials.

Colonel Joscelyne of the UK Defence Staff who is visiting Kigali today with Baroness Chalker is likely to have alerted Major General Dallaire to the proposed visit. MODUK envisage the party flying by civil air to Entebbe, arriving on probably Thursday 28 July. Thereafter they would be grateful for assistance with transport. We will confirm flight details both to yourself and the UK Ambassador in Kampala as soon as we have them. In the interval a telephone call to confirm that in principle UN authority for the visit is forthcoming would be much appreciated.

7. OUR PROBLEM HAS NOT BEEN THAT RESOLVING THIS ISSUE IS DIFFICULT, ITS THE FACT WE ALL WAITED TILL THE AIRCRAFT WERE URGENTLY NEEDED FOR THE MISSION FOR WHICH THEY WERE CHARTERED, BEFORE WE TESTED OUR CAPABILITY TO RESPOND. THE COMPANY IS HIGHLY EMBARRASSED ABOUT THE MATTER, BUT WE SHOULD ALL SHARE THEIR EMBARRASSMENT.

8. IT IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT THAT MR. LAMBO IS SENT TO THE UNOMUR LOCATION TO ASSESS THIS PROBLEM AND ENSURE WE QUICKLY GET THESE RESOURCES WORKING ON THE MISSION THEY WERE CHARTERED TO DO.

LETTER DATED 29 APRIL 1994 FROM THE SECRETARY-GENERAL
ADDRESSED TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL

I regret to have to inform you that the Force Commander of the United Nations Assistance Mission for Rwanda (UNAMIR) has reported a further deterioration of the situation in Kigali and other parts of Rwanda.

The capital city is effectively divided into sectors controlled by the Rwanda Government Forces (RGF) and the Rwandese Patriotic Front (RPF) respectively, with frequent exchanges of artillery and mortar fire between the two sides. UNAMIR reports strong evidence of preparations for further massacres of civilians in the city and there are several large concentrations of civilians who fear for their lives but enjoy little effective protection. Massacres continue on a large scale in the countryside, especially in the south.

A new complication is that in recent days both sides have begun to express lack of confidence in UNAMIR's impartiality and this is affecting their cooperation with my Special Representative and the Force Commander.

These developments raise serious questions about the viability of the revised mandate which the Security Council gave to UNAMIR by resolution 912 on 21 April 1994. In particular, it has become clear that that mandate does not give UNAMIR the power to take effective action to halt the continuing massacres. At best it can provide limited protection to small groups of threatened persons in the city of Kigali and it would be unable to save them if a new wave of massacres were to start. According to some estimates, as many as 200,000 people may have died during the last three weeks. This humanitarian catastrophe is rightly a matter of growing anguish in Africa and the rest of the world and demands urgent action by the international community.

In considering what action should be taken, it has to be recognized that the disastrous incident of 6 April which caused the deaths of the Presidents of Rwanda and Burundi has had two consequences which require different responses from the international community. First, that incident sparked a resumption of fighting between the Rwanda Government Forces (RGF) and the Rwandese Patriotic Front (RPF). Secondly, it reawakened deep-rooted ethnic hatreds, which have plagued Rwanda in the past and which have again led to massacres of innocent civilians on a massive scale.

The revised mandate which the Security Council gave to UNAMIR in resolution 912 on 21 April is an adequate response to the first of these consequences. My Special Representative and the Force Commander have been making strenuous efforts to help the parties agree to a cease-fire and a return to implementation of the Arusha Accord. Those efforts have not yet succeeded but the present mandate and strength of UNAMIR are sufficient for them to continue.

The events of the last few days have confirmed, however, that UNAMIR's revised mandate is not one which enables it to bring the massacres under control. Some of these have been the work of uncontrolled military personnel but most of them have been perpetrated by armed groups of civilians taking advantage of the complete breakdown of law and order in Kigali and many other parts of Rwanda. It has become clear that the horrors for which they are responsible can be ended only if law and order is restored, a task which is far beyond UNAMIR's present capacity.

In these circumstances, I urge the Security Council to re-examine the decisions which it took in resolution 912 and to consider again what action, including forceful action, it could take, or could authorize Member States to take, in order to restore law and order and end the massacres. In making this recommendation, I am of course aware that such action would require a commitment of human and material resources on a scale which Member States have so far proved reluctant to contemplate. But I am convinced that the scale of human suffering in Rwanda and its implications for the stability of neighbouring countries leave the Security Council with no alternative but to examine this possibility.

I should be grateful if you would bring this matter to the attention of the members of the Security Council.

(Signed) Boutros BOUTROS-GHALI

INFO: UNAMIR KIGALI UNOSOM MOGADISHU	DRAFTER:
FAX NR: 212-963-2116	FAX NR: 254-2-622668
SUBJECT: SITREP UNAMIR NAIROBI	DATE: 16 APRIL 1994
NR OF PAGES INCLUDING THIS ONE: 2

1. UNAMIR OFFICE NAIROBI IS NOW ESTABLISHED AND THE COMMERCIAL NUMBER IS 254-2-622380.

2. 15 APRIL - THE FIFTH APC WITH THE SPARES PLUS THE FIRST 57 DRUMS OF DIESEL WAS FORWARDED TO KIGALI. THERE ARE 243 DRUMS TO FOLLOW. RATIONS AND WATER CONTINUED TO BE PLACED IN KIGALI. SOME CIGARETTES WERE INCLUDED IN THE DELIVERY.

3. 16 APRIL - THE FLIGHT WILL CARRY FIVE PALLETS WATER, 800 KG MEDICINE AND DIESEL TO BE DETERMINED.

4. NEXT FEW DAYS WILL CONTINUE FOOD, RATIONS, CIGARETTES, SODA, FLAG VESTS A FUEL BOWSER AND BLOOD PLUS OTHER ITEMS THAT ARRIVE.

5. HOPEFUL THAT BOWSER WILL GO IN BETWEEN 18-20 APRIL. INDIVIDUAL WILL ALSO ACCOMPANY TO TRAIN AN OPERATOR. UNAMIR OPERATOR MUST BE QUALIFIED BOWSER OPERATOR SINCE THIS IS A THIRTY MINUTE CONVERSION TRAINING COURSE.

6. ATTENDED KENYAN SECURITY MEETING TODAY WITH UNDP KENYAN RESIDENT REPRESENTATIVE. KENYANS ARE MOST CONCERNED ABOUT RWANDESE CITIZENS ARRIVING KENYA. UNDP HAS A MORE LIBERAL APPROACH AND THE UNOSOM AIRCRAFT CREWS ARE CAUGHT IN THE MIDDLE, THEREFORE A UNAMIR ESCORT WILL BE INCLUDED ON ANY AIRCRAFT EMBARKING REFUGEES TO ENSURE COMPLIANCE WITH UNDP RULES.

7. FROM THIS MEETING LEARNT THAT BELGIUM AND ITALIAN FORCES WILL LEAVE NAIROBI. ITALIANS 16 APRIL AND BELGIUM SOON.
8. THERE ARE 87 ZAIRE REFUGEES TO BE RETURNED TO ZAIRE. WE PROVIDED COST OF OPERATING UNOSOM AIRCRAFT. IF THEY WISHED TO USE A UNOSOM AIRCRAFT ON COST.
9. ON 14 APRIL A WOUNDED RWANDESE (MEDECINS SANS FRONTIERES) ARRIVED ON UNOSOM AIRCRAFT FROM KIGALI. CAUSED CONCERN BUT THIS IS NOW RESOLVED AND THE NGO TOOK RESPONSIBILITY.
10. ON 15 APRIL, TWENTY SEVEN PASSENGERS ARRIVED. ONE UNDP, SIX GERMANS, TWENTY RWANDESE. TWO FAMILIES WERE OF ASSASSINATED MINISTERS. UNDP CONTROLLED THIS ISSUE AND HANDLED IMMIGRATION ISSUES, UNAMIR IS TIGHTENING CONTROL OF THE REFUGEES MOVEMENTS DUE TO HIGH SENSITIVITY.
- also* 11. PLANNING FOR STAGING OF TROOPS THROUGH NAIROBI AND EQUIPMENT THROUGH DAR ES SALAM IS WELL ADVANCED. WILL GET BETTER AS WE GO BUT COULD FUNCTION NOW IF NEEDED. KENYANS DON'T WANT ARMED TROOPS OFF AIRFIELD. THEY WANT THEM TO GO DIRECT FROM UNOSOM AIRCRAFT TO OVERSEAS FLIGHT. EXPECT SOME DIFFICULTY HERE BUT WE'RE WORKING ISSUE. ///
12. CANADIAN C130s WILL HELP OUT OF NAIROBI BUT WON'T TRANSIT THROUGH OTHER LOCATIONS ENROUTE TO KIGALI TO PICK UP ITEMS. ✓
13. LAST SITREP FROM WALDRUM. ENROUTE TO SOUTH AFRICA 17 APRIL, AND ANGOLA 18 APRIL.
14. FOD STAFF IS COORDINATING AIR TRANSPORT OF ITEMS THRU CANDY LOGISTICS WITHOUT INFORMING UNAMIR. THIS HAS POTENTIAL FOR PROBLEMS. DIRECTION TO CANDY CAME FROM THE FOD DESK OFFICER. CANDY CAME TO SEE US TO COORDINATE AND WE MANAGED TO STOP AN UNWORKABLE PLAN SINCE THE GOODS TO BE PICKED UP WERE NOT IN THE LOCATIONS GIVEN TO CANDY. THE RATIONS MOVING FROM DAR ES SALAM TO KIGALI ARE CLOSE TO AN IL76TD LOAD. SUGGESTED CANDY WORK ON RATIONS AND OTHER ITEMS WILL BE COORDINATED HERE. DEFINITELY LIKE THE FOD IDEA YOU ARE WORKING WITH. THIS IS A GOOD PLAN. JUST NEED A LITTLE COORDINATION.
