Dear Secretary-General Ban Ki-Moon,

On behalf of United Netherlands I would like to invite you to the Netherlands to open the Radboud international Model United Nations (RiMUN), Thursday 08th April 2010 at the Radboud University in the city of Nijmegen.

The RiMUN 2010 conference is organized by United Netherlands, a student-led organization which works in collaboration with the Radboud University. The central goal of United Netherlands is to create a platform where talented, ambitious and motivated young people challenge each other to develop their full potential as global citizens.

To this end we organize various programs, of which the most prestigious is RiMUN. The organization is highly experienced with Model United Nations conferences and the famous delegation it sent to the prestigious Harvard National Model United Nations conference has won numerous awards including those of "Best Overall Delegation" in 2007 and "Best International Delegation" in 2009.

The RiMUN conference prides itself on high academic content which aims to unite students from diverse backgrounds and perspectives to reflect on international issues. Here, bright, inspired and internationally oriented students can develop the skills of diplomacy, debating and public speaking, thus learning how to deal effectively with global issues.

Last year we were given the extraordinary privilege of organizing WorldMUN. This conference was organized in cooperation with a team from Harvard University and was attended to by 2500 delegates from over 50 nationalities and proved to be a great success.

Armed with the experience of organizing this event we feel strengthened and entirely dedicated to make RiMUN 2010 an even bigger and better conference than ever before. Our ultimate future goal is to become the European equivalent of Harvard National Model United Nations.

This year's conference will revolve around the theme "Times of Trial". We wish to stress our goal of finding solutions for the great global challenges of our time. Climate change, international peace and security, the economical crisis and cultural and religious intolerance will be focussed upon.

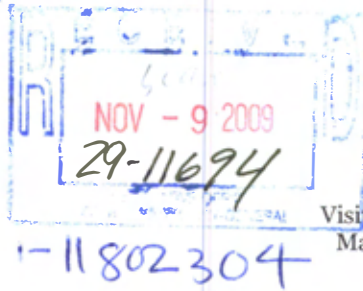

You, as Secretary General of the United are the principal speaker concerning these domains. You embody the political, cultural, economical, historical and philosophical content which this conference is based upon.

We would like to grant you the opportunity of commencing the opening ceremony, which would involve approximately 15 minutes of speaking time to inspire and motivate the 500+ participants. We are offering a honorarium of 1500€. We realize this is far below your normal fee. However, we hope you will consider this invitation because this conference is a unique
