The Honourable Ban Ki-moon, Secretary-General, United Nations

Dear sir,

My name is Bishan Rai and I am from Nepal. I am in my internship for the ministry of peace and reconstruction.

I was on my survey mission on Maoist combatants for a week before the ministry suddenly changed its official staff and ministers. My survey on combatants and my interactions with individuals was a very essential part of my project for an upcoming scheme to resolve combatant issues. However, due to uncertainty of political developments, my peace project is cancelled before even I can shape it.

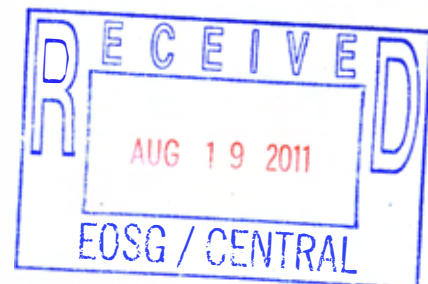

More than 31,000 combatants can fit in this scheme so far. An arrangement was made to provide all combatants, opportunity of employment and benefit as well. I also came up with the idea to monitor individual progress and human rights issues of every combatant after their rehabilitation. But the new policies cancel all the projects before the new minister was appointed.

I was hoping to brief this project to UN officials in Nepal along with government. My team is a group of new generation of professional experts in different fields. Our project encounters many political crises and corruption in government officials. So far our group is managing everything on our own not to let this peace project cancel. This we consider one absolute solution to resolve Maoist combatants' issue. Sir, I was wondering if we can brief concerned UN officials of Nepal about our peace project.

Mr Ian Martine (former UNMIN representative) is my mentor, he advises us that the project must represent as a framework of political solution. And I think this peace project will definitely create that environment between Nepalese political parties. If you like briefing of our scheme, we can arrange that as well.

Thank you for your time sir.

Sincerely
Bishan Rai
Ministry of peace and reconstruction
