Dear Françoise,

Welcome on board flight UN-001!

Herewith the black scarf. The georgette one is from Saudi Airlines and too thin, but fashion may have changed in Iran, & they may be wearing lighter ones in the summer..
The other is the trusty one. Fold ~~into~~ as on next page. (You and Jim should have a giggle together over all this. & You are lucky having him along.) Anyway, they are a bitch to wear & change your appearance radically.

Iran.

A few tips. You never wear much makeup anyway... and no red nail polish! Long sleeves; black stockings; - actually the easiest is black pants. No cleavages, elbows, knees or hair!

For breakfast order the BARBAREE bread - it's simply delicious, and their toast or croissants are dreadful. Food is not bad in general.

Irak

Too much food, mainly meat & kebabs and broiled testicles. But you can drink there! Breakfasts are simply ghastly!

Geneva has been fun & hectic, what with Palestine, Afghanistan and Iran/Iraq - and far too much food & booze & croissants & jambons etc. Thank goodness for Wilma & Jim - much shrieking and hilarity.

(tomorrow, Friday)
I'm off to Cairo for an extended weekend, arriving too late for the rugby match, but Michael will pick me up from the airport & take me straight to the post-match barbecue!

Look forward to exchanging stories in New York!

Much love, Cx

Dear Françoise,

Taking advantage of J. Anderson to write a nice note. I hope you have a good trip. It should certainly be very interesting. Cathy is across the desk drawing a diagram of something she thinks you ought to hear* — it looks horrible, but perhaps you will carry it off with your usual elegance — don't get snatched for somebody's harem — or are they allowed those noways?

Andy has had 5 kittens — the excitement has been terrific! One of them has died, but the other 4 are thriving, one of them my godchild! I suspect that not all of them will be quien away! They have taken up residence in Gwaine's * Tim has been instructed to take a photo!

basket— poor Wendy!

The roof is now on my little house, so things are moving at last - we are going to inspect it today. I have finished quite a long run of meetings now with Afghanistan, so at last I will have time to look at fine places, choose tiles, take my banker to lunch to beg for more money. Next time you come perhaps I will be living there.

It has been a lot of fun as usual, working with the Afghan Team - screams of laughter all the time.

Is there a chance that you will pass by Geneva soon?

Love
William
