Subject:

Attack on the UN Mission in South Sudan
Jonglei State, South Sudan, 8 April 2013

Excellency,

I was deeply sorry to learn of the ambush of an UNMISS peacekeeping convoy in Gumuruk in Jonglei State, South Sudan, on Monday.

On behalf of all of INTERPOL, I wish to extend my deepest sympathy to you, your staff and the friends and families of the five Indian peacekeepers, two UNMISS national staff and five civilian staff contractors who so tragically lost their lives in this deplorable attack while engaged in performing a humanitarian role. I also wish the other peacekeepers and accompanying civilians who suffered injuries a full and speedy recovery.

The Office of the Special Representative of INTERPOL to the United Nations has already been in touch with your Organization to offer assistance in relation to this incident. Should you need anything from INTERPOL at this difficult time or to help bring the perpetrators of this heinous crime to justice, you need only ask.

Respectfully yours,

Ronald K. Noble
Secretary General
