Mr. Narasimhan

I have telephoned luncheon invitations from the Secretary-General, as you requested, to all who were originally invited to the luncheons for Ambassadors El Kony and Tomorowicz next week, informing them of the combined farewell luncheon to take place on the 30th.

Originally, when the Secretary-General made up the guest lists, there were a number of Ambassadors, listed below, who expected to be away for the 22nd and 23rd and who declined the original invitation. In view of the slight possibility that some of these might have returned by the 30th, would you wish me to call them again or shall I keep the list as it was previously finalized by the SG?

* Amb. Ogbu is expected to return from Nigeria this week - his office will inform us as soon as he is in New York.

15 July 1969

Sir,

Mr. Narasimhan had informed us that you wished to retain your two farewell luncheons as scheduled for next week and so I thought you might like to see the guest lists as they stand at present.

All replies have been received for the luncheon for Amb. Tomorowicz on the 23rd.

For Amb. El Kony's luncheon on the 22nd, the only outstanding acknowledgement is that of Amb. Ogbu which I hope to have shortly.

I hope you are feeling better each day.

Thank you

Dear Mr. Secretary-General:

Miss Eddy has just telephoned the news of your kind invitation to lunch on July 3rd. I have been laid up for the last few weeks with a mild attack of hepatitis and am staying in bed in the hope that I will be well enough to join Justice Goldberg, Robert Benjamin and Elmore Jackson on our return visit to the UNA of the Soviet Union, leaving on July 8th.

Although an invitation to lunch with you is a privilege that I would normally get out of a sick bed for, I think with this trip in mind and objectives that mean so much to both of us it is best for me to stay down and in bed and try to make it. I do hope you will understand. Please accept my deep thanks for thinking of me.

We expect to be in the Soviet Union from July 8 through July 22nd and during the trip hope to conclude details for parallel policy panels on at least three subjects. When we return we will welcome the chance to inform you of our progress.

With warm regards.

Sincerely,

Porter McKeever
President

My dear Secretary General,

I am writing at the first opportunity to thank you for your beautiful luncheon party on the 38th floor on Friday. It was a great pleasure to meet you and your colleagues, & to listen to civilized talk about world problems. I grow very weary of the absurd power-politics which so many people unthinkingly accept. The party did me a lot of good.

Thank you also for your gift of "Basic Problems of Disarmament", and for what you wrote on the front page. I hope the book will sell very widely. To me it will be of great help. Already in the aeroplane coming home I began an introduction chapter for a collective book on The Burden of World Armaments, and I was able to start from the Report of your first Group on "Economic & Social Consequences."

I must also thank you for finding a formula for Ralph Bunche to endorse the Declaration of the Nobel Laureates. I think he will perhaps ^{set} more attention in this way than if he had simply signed like the rest. Anyway, Ralph has great influence, & with Lester Pearson's signature I hope the Declaration may give you some small support in all that you are doing for Disarmament.

The Times yesterday gave the full text of the Israeli statement on Nixon's proposal. It looks as though your work with Mr. Meir & Nixon was really bearing fruit, and I send you all congratulations.

I am having beautiful sunshine in this remote mountain village - ideal conditions for writing. I shall often think of Friday.

With gratitude again, and
my kindest regards,
Yours sincerely,

Philip Noel-Baker

Note No. 3619
11 September 1970

NOTE TO CORRESPONDENTS

A four-ounce rock from the moon, brought to earth by the Apollo 11 astronauts who landed on the moon on 20 July 1969, will go on display to the public at United Nations Headquarters on Monday, 14 September.

The display, which will be permanent, will also include a small United Nations flag carried to the moon on board Apollo 11.

The display will be located in the foyer of the General Assembly building, near the Meditation Room.

The moon rock, irregular in shape and about 1-1/2 inches in diameter, is enclosed in a plexiglass case within a glass case containing the display as a whole.

The moon rock and flag were presented to the United Nations on the first anniversary of the moon landing. The presentation was made to the Secretary-General, U Thant, by Thomas O. Paine, Administrator of the United States National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

The presentation ceremony at Headquarters on 20 July was attended by the three Apollo 11 astronauts - Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr., and Michael Collins.

(For details of the ceremony, see Note No. 3611 and Press Releases SG/SM/1306 and 1307.)

The moon rock was on display to members of delegations and the Secretariat from 22 to 24 July, prior to preparation of the public exhibit.

Dear Dr. Paine,

It was a great occasion for the United Nations to have you and the Apollo XI astronauts visit us again. We are grateful for the interest in the United Nations which your return here manifested and particularly are we appreciative of the presentations which you made to the United Nations in the form of the lunar fragment, the United Nations flag, the replica of the disc and the enlarged framed reproduction of that disc. Your fine statement was most appropriate and thoroughly appreciated. May I thank you once again.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

U Thant

His Excellency
U Thant
Secretary General of the United Nations
New York, New York 10016

Dear Mr. Secretary General:

One year ago today Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin emplaced on the lunar surface a small silicon disc bearing goodwill messages from the leaders of more than seventy nations around the world. On this anniversary of man's first voyage to the moon, I am honored to present to you an exact replica and an enlarged framed reproduction of that disc. Besides the goodwill messages, the disc contains excerpts from statements on America's goals in space by each of the four Presidents that have led the U.S. space program, and lists Congressional and NASA officials with important space program responsibilities, including all former Administrators and Deputy Administrators.

The printing of the half-dollar-sized silicon disc was etched by a special microminiature electronics process developed to produce high reliability circuits for space flight. Each message was reduced 200 times to a size smaller than the head of a pin and appears on the disc as a barely visible dot. Through a high-powered microscope the printing is sharp and clear, however. The messages and statements on the enlarged reproduction, where the messages are reduced only 10 times, can be read with the help of a small magnifying glass.

At the top of the disc is the inscription: "Goodwill messages from around the world brought to the moon by the astronauts of Apollo 11." Around the rim is the statement: "From planet earth -- July 1969." The goodwill messages are in the center of the disc and the Presidential statements and list of Congressional and NASA officials are at the bottom.

The goodwill messages were received from Afghanistan, Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chad, Chile, China, Colombia, Congo, Costa Rica, Cyprus, Dahomey, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Estonia, Ethiopia, Ghana, Greece, Guyana, Iceland, India, Iran, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Ivory Coast, Jamaica, Japan, Kenya, Korea, Laos, Latvia, Lebanon, Lesotho, Liberia, Malagasy, Malaysia, Maldives, Mali, Malta, Mauritius, Mexico, Morocco, Netherlands, Nicaragua, New Zealand, Norway, Pakistan, Panama, Peru, Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Romania, Senegal, Sierra Leone, South Africa, Swaziland, Thailand, Togo, Trinidad and Tobago, Tunisia, Turkey, United Kingdom, Upper Volta, Uruguay, Viet Nam, Vatican, Yugoslavia, and Zambia.

I hope that this replica will give you pleasure as a reminder of the worldwide outpouring of goodwill to the United States engendered by the accomplishment in 1969 of America's first major goal in space. Because of the goal of the United States space program, the peaceful use of space for the benefit of all mankind, and the United Nations' strong support of this goal, it is thus a great honor and personal pleasure for me to present it to you.

Sincerely yours,

Note No. 3611
20 July 1970

NOTE TO CORRESPONDENTS

The Secretary-General, U Thant, was presented this afternoon with the United Nations flag which was carried to the moon and back and a sample of the lunar surface, at a ceremony held at his office on the 38th floor to mark the anniversary of the landing of Apollo 11 on the moon.

The Secretary-General was also presented with a small plaque on a silicon disc containing messages from 73 Heads of State, which the astronauts had taken with them on their flight to the moon, and was given a magnifying glass with which to read them.

The presentations were made by Thomas Paine, Administrator of the United States National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), and the three astronauts who took part in the journey of Apollo 11 -- Neil A. Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin, Jr. and Michael Collins.

The Secretary-General, in turn, presented Mr. Paine and the astronauts with commemorative medallions, struck for the twenty-fifth anniversary of the United Nations, which are intended for Heads of States and Governments, and with stamp albums. One of the albums was also presented to Julian Scheer, Assistant Administrator for Public Affairs.

During the ceremony, which was attended by members of the Security Council, a message from President Nixon to the Secretary-General was read out by William B. Buffum (United States). (For details see Press Release SG/SM/1307.)

Statements were also made by Mr. Paine and Mr. Armstrong.

In his statement, Mr. Paine said that it was especially appropriate that the United Nations, which had contributed so positively to the peaceful uses of outer space and had worked so energetically to establish peace and goodwill on earth should now be the custodian of the flag and the moon rock. He regarded these "historical artifacts", as symbols of the achievement of many peoples and nations. For, although it was the United States which had made the final breakthrough to the historic landing, it was an event prepared by the genius of mankind from many lands over many generations, he stated.

(more)

Mr. Armstrong stated that there was evidence that the "spirit of Apollo", of which President Nixon had spoken, could be a reality and not merely a hope.

U Thant, the Secretary-General, stated that the United Nations flag which had been to the moon and back; "and this enthralling piece of moon rock from a far less remote and mysterious neighbour in the universe than was the case only a year ago", would be deeply cherished. It would constantly symbolize man's infinite capacity for achievement and the continuing and rightful concern of the world at large in outer space, he said.

He went on to express regret and dismay that in the year since Mr. Armstrong had made his "one giant leap for mankind" on the lunar surface, man on earth had taken not even a single leap towards peace" in those brutally war-torn areas" of Indo-China and the Middle East. TEXT OF LETTER TO SECRETARY-GENERAL FROM PRESIDENT NIXON
READ AT MOON ROCK PRESENTATION CEREMONY

Following is the text of a letter dated 18 July from President Richard M. Nixon of the United States to the Secretary-General, U Thant, which was read out this afternoon by William B. Buffum (United States) on the occasion of the presentation of the moon rock:

"Dear Mr. Secretary-General:

"On this first anniversary of man's landing on the moon, I am particularly pleased to convey my best wishes to you and to your distinguished colleagues of the United Nations Outer Space Committee and the Security Council.

"The lunar fragment which Dr. Paine will present to the United Nations this afternoon comes from all of the people of the United States of America. One year ago today Astronauts Armstrong and Aldrin collected it on the surface of the moon and then, rejoining Astronaut Collins in the command ship Columbia, returned to earth, bringing with them the flag of the United Nations which you will find mounted together with the lunar fragment.

"The brave men of Apollo XI, who are with you in New York today, undertook their voyage in the name of all mankind. At that time, one of the world's great statesmen said: "Let us take inspiration from this moment and go forward together in peace here on earth." Those inspiring words -- which were your own -- have set our task. Let us, then, rededicate ourselves to the spirit of Apollo XI; let us as nations go forward together toward peace and unity, striving to express in deed the vision which has drawn us together in spirit.

"With warm personal regards."

TEXT OF STATEMENT BY SECRETARY-GENERAL, U THANT, AT PRESENTATION CEREMONY* OF MOON ROCK

It is with very great pleasure that I again welcome to the United Nations you, Dr. Paine, and the three gallant men of Apollo 11 -- Astronauts Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins. You are always welcome here.

It was exactly one year ago today that the Apollo 11 crew electrified the world by their historic landing on the moon.

That unprecedented feat has its permanent place in the annals of man's most distinguished exploits.

Now you come to us bearing rare gifts. We appreciate beyond the ability of words to express the thoughtfulness of the Government of the United States and its Agency, NASA, and their high regard for the United Nations in arranging this presentation. Indeed, it was this same fine spirit which motivated the inclusion of a United Nations flag among the artefacts taken to the moon by Apollo 11 on its epic flight.

This United Nations flag, which has been to the moon and back, and this enthralling piece of moon rock from a far less remote and mysterious neighbour in the universe than was the case only a year ago, will be deeply cherished here. It will constantly symbolize man's infinite capacity for achievement and the continuing and rightful concern of the world at large in outer space.

These precious gifts will be put on display so that they may be viewed by the thousands of visitors who come to the United Nations daily. In fact, they will be so attractive that some special precautions will be necessary to safeguard them. We are already giving thought as to how to cope with this problem.

Please know how very grateful we are.

Press Release SG/SM/1306
20 July 1970

May I conclude with the comment that, a year ago, Mr. Armstrong, you descended from the Eagle and made that "one giant leap for mankind" on the lunar surface whose full significance to mankind's future cannot yet be measured. It is a cause for deepest regret and dismay that in the year since that act, man on earth has taken not even a small leap toward peace in those brutally war-torn areas of Indo-China and the Middle East. If only the nations of the world -- and here I may specify particularly the two super States that have pioneered so brilliantly in outer space -- could focus on peace the concentration, determination, co-operation, resources and vision which made possible the triumph of Apollo 11, how much brighter would be the prospects for man on earth.

Dear U Thant:

Your very gracious invitation to Dr. Morgenthau and myself for lunch on Wednesday is most deeply appreciated. We look forward to the occasion a great deal.

I've just read your speech and the "Su Taung" delivered in San Francisco last Friday. They are excellent. Your statements, particularly about the People's Republic of China, very much hit the target. I would hope that in addition to other things we could talk about this on Wednesday.

We very much look forward to seeing you.

Warmest regards,

Thomas B. Manton

14 July 1970

My dear Prime Minister,

I have received your gracious note of 3 July.

May I say that, for my part, I greatly enjoyed your visit and much appreciated the opportunity to discuss with you important political questions which are of interest to your Government and to the United Nations. For me too it was a matter for satisfaction to see how close our views were on these important questions.

I shall look forward very much to meeting you again. Meanwhile, I remain, with warmest personal regards,

Yours sincerely,

U Thant

Dear U Thant,

I am now back in Sweden after my visits to the United States and to Moscow and I want to thank you for the very good conversation that we had in New York on June 9. I sincerely appreciated this opportunity to discuss with you especially the situation in the Middle East and in South East Asia. It was a stimulation to see that our views are the same and it was valuable to get information about your thinking on the kind of international aid that will be needed for South East Asia when the war has come to an end. As I said to you we will continue our efforts in this matter.

Yours sincerely,

Olof Palme

Suharto Visits the U.N., Urges Asia Cooperation

Washington Post Foreign Service

UNITED NATIONS, May 28—President Suharto of Indonesia today urged regional cooperation in Southeast Asia as the best way to promote "national resilience" against the forces of disintegration.

Speaking to the Afro-Asian group at the United Nations, Suharto was far less specific than in his address yesterday to the National Press Club in Washington.

He referred only generally to the war in Indochina, terming it "a manifestation of the decolonization process" which has been "interrupted by the power-play of yet another set of forces, external and foreign to those areas."

Suharto avoided comment on the extension of the war into Cambodia, except for a reference to the recent conference of 11 foreign ministers in Djakarta.

Its aims, he said, were "to assist in upholding the sovereignty and integrity that constitute the legal right of the Khmer people; to respect the neutrality of Cambodia which she had repeatedly reiterated; and to prevent the expansion of the war in Southeast Asia so that peace might be realized in that region—a peace to which the peoples of Southeast Asia are entitled."

Suharto conferred for 30 minutes with Secretary General U Thant after his arrival here from Washington with Mrs. Suharto and Foreign Minister Adam Malik. Thant gave an official luncheon for the visitors.

SUBJECT: Visit to New York of the Governor-General of Malta
OBJET:

On 25 February, the Permanent Mission of Malta had informed us that the Governor-General of Malta, H.E. Sir Maurice Dorman, will stop in New York around the 21st or the 22nd of May, on his way to the Exposition in Japan and that he would like, at that time, to pay a courtesy visit to the Secretary-General.

You have instructed me to invite the Governor-General and Lady Dorman for tea at 5:00 p.m. on the 22nd of May. On February 26, I extended to Mr. Sammut, First Secretary of the Permanent Mission, the Secretary-General's invitation. This morning we had a telephone call from the same gentleman inquiring whether it would be possible to change the invitation for tea to a luncheon. Taking into consideration that the Secretary-General might not wish to change the original invitation, I told Mr. Sammut that everything depended on the very tight schedule of the Secretary-General.

I would be grateful to have your instructions concerning this matter.

Sinan

I checked this point with the S.G. before his departure.

He told me, after checking his calendar, that he has prior commitments for lunch both on 9 April and 9 May/embal
