MESSAGE FOR "PEACEFUL VISIONS" STAMPS
ISSUED BY THE UN POSTAL ADMINISTRATION

February 2007

This is a daunting time in world affairs. The challenges confronting the international community -- from conflict to climate change, from poverty to intolerance -- have grown infinitely more complicated. The demands placed on the United Nations have become ever more complex. Yet this world of global challenges is exactly the environment in which the Organization should thrive, because these are issues and problems that no country can resolve on its own. The United Nations must live up to its name, and be truly united, so that we meet the hopes and expectations of people around the world. By strengthening our work for security, development and human rights, we can succeed in building a more peaceful, prosperous and just world for succeeding generations.
